Amendments to the Claims:

This listing of claims will replace all prior versions, and listings of claims in the application.

Listing of Claims:

Claim 1 (currently amended): A electric-business method of a merchandise, said method comprising:

providing said merchandise, said merchandise having a plurality of items that are executed by an electric device and thereafter display a plurality of functions of said merchandise; selecting the parts of said items; and evaluating a selling price of said merchandise according to said selected items.; and customizing said merchandise according to said selected items.

Claim 2 (original): The electric-business method of claim 1 further comprising:

communicating a request system to a system of merchandise service, said system of merchandise at least storing a plurality of computer-executive programs corresponding to said merchandise and said items; and outputting said merchandise to said request system wherein said merchandise comprises said selected items.

Claim 3 (original): The electric-business method of claim 2, wherein said request system transmits a serial number comprising a plurality of bytes to said system of merchandise.

Claim 4 (original): The electric-business method of claim 3, wherein said serial number comprises:

a server code related to said request system; a version code related to a version information of said merchandise preexisted in said request system; and an authorization code related to an expiration time of said merchandise preexisted in said request system, said authorization renewed according to an execution time by said request system.

Claim 5 (original): The electric-business method of claim 3, wherein said serial number is changed after the evaluating step.

Claim 6 (original): The electric-business method of claim 2, wherein said communicating step is implemented through a wire network.

Claim 7 (original): The electric-business method of claim 2, wherein said communicating step is implemented through a wireless network.

Claim 8 (currently amended): A electric-business method of a software merchandise, said method comprising:

communicating a first electric device to a second electric device; providing said software merchandise by said second electric device, said software merchandise displaying a plurality of function through a plurality of items executed by a computer;

selecting parts of said items by said first electric device; building a customized software merchandise according to said selected items;

evaluating a price of said customized software merchandise; and outputting said customized software merchandise to said first electric device.

Claim 9 (original): The electric-business method of claim 8 further comprising executing a payment procedure according to said price between said first electric device and said second electric device.

Claim 10 (original): The electric-business method of claim 8, wherein said communicating step comprises transmitting a serial number between said first electric device and said second electric device.

Claim 11 (original): The electric-business method of claim 8, wherein said outputting step comprises a serial number included in said customized software merchandise.

Claim 12 (original): The electric-business method of claim 11, wherein said serial number comprises:

a registry code related to communication of said first electric device and said second electric device; and an authorization code related to an expiration time of said customized software merchandise.

Claim 13 (original): The electric-business method of claim 12, wherein said authorization code is changed dependent on an execution time on said first electric device.

Claim 14 (original): The electric-business method of claim 8, wherein said second electric device comprise at least a server belonging to an application service provider.

Claim 15 (original): A electric-business method of a customized merchandise, said method comprising:

accepting a request of merchandise service from an exterior electric device; displaying a plurality of items of a merchandise according to said request of merchandise service, said items executed by a computer performing a plurality of functions of said merchandise; accepting a request of item selection, said request of item selection for selecting parts of said items; calculating a price of said merchandise, said price dependent on said selected items; and outputting said merchandise to said exterior electric device.

Claim 16 (original): The electric-business method of claim 15 further comprising:

accepting a request of payment from said exterior electric device; inspecting an identification from said exterior electric device; generating a serial number of said merchandise according to said merchandise, said selected items and said request of merchandise service; and transmitting said serial number to said exterior electric device.

Claim 17 (original): The electric-business method of claim 15, wherein said request of merchandise service comprising a utility information related to said merchandise that is preexisted in said exterior electric device.

Claim 18 (original): The electric-business method of claim 15, wherein said serial number comprises an expiration time of said merchandise executed by said exterior electric device.

Claim 19 (original): The electric-business method of claim 15, wherein said request of merchandise service is transmitted through a wire network.

Claim 20 (original): The electric-business method of claim 15, wherein said merchandise comprises a product of package software.